NO CHANGES ANNOUNCED IN THE POLICE DEPARTMENT.

Commissioners Say They are in No Hurry About the Matter—Mayor Snyder Appoints a Policeman—Board Votes to Appoint Under Civil Service.

For at least another week the heads of several police officers will rest uneasy. Not a word was said at the session of the Police Commission yesterday morning about changes in the department. After adjournment two of the commissioners practically stated that some changes will be made in the near future, but that the board is not yet ready to act. Capt. Sylvester P. Hensley, Secretary Ray Cottle, and two or three other officers are said to be "on the list." There seems to be a general idea that the board will not immediately dismiss these officers, but will compel them to walk a beat.

It is stoutly denied by all the members of the commission that any question of politics enters into the proposed changes in the department. They assert that whatever action is taken will be solely for the good of the service.

With the exception of A. F. Maginnis, all the Commissioners were present yesterday morning.

"Sunny Jim" Keeney, with a smile that was child-like and bland, presented a resolution regarding civil service, which was unanimously adopted as follows:

"Resolved, that all applicants for positions as regular police officers shall make their applications in accordance with rules provided by the Civil Service Commission; and shall pass such requirements fixed by said Civil Service Commission, and presenting to the board the recommendation of said Civil Service Commission."

Police Commissioners would have it that by the passage of this resolution they have voluntarily placed the police department under civil-service rules, as far as the appointments are concerned. It will be noted that nothing is said in the resolution regarding the dismissal of police officers. It has been explained many times, the charter provision regarding the appointment of police officers is not clear, although it is specifically declared that no officer shall be dismissed. Some authorities assert that the under the charter all appointments must be made through the Civil Service Commission, and that only dismissals are subject to the dictum of the police board. Be that as it may, the action of the Police Commission yesterday effectively settles the dispute.

Just a minute before the resolution was introduced, Mayor Snyder moved that Manuel Leon be made a regular policeman, and it carried without debate.

Favorable action was taken on the application of Albert G. Dunlap for a restaurant liquor license at No. 625 Central Avenue, and one of the offices of L. H. Convis for change of location of his saloon from No. 290 new High street to No. 216 Franklin street.

Chief Elton was authorized to sell an old pony wagon for $50.

To the Chief was referred the application of Pete Condo for a restaurant liquor license in Balerino alley.

The transfer of command of the park department was made to a regular policeman, as provided by ordinance.

Discuss Civil Service.

All members of the Civil Service Commission were present at the regularly scheduled meeting yesterday afternoon, but no discussion of business was transacted.

Most of the time of the commissioners was given to an informal discussion of the forms of applications and roster books.

It will be necessary to wait three days for the rules of the board to go into effect before giving an examination to candidates. Emergency positions will receive first attention at the hands of the commissioners.

On the heels of the regular meeting, the following standing committees: Clerical, McKee and King; Police, King and Haynes; Fire, King and Haynes; Mechanical Engineering, King and McLean; Electrical Engineering, Haynes and McLean; Library, Edelman and Edelstein; Inspection, Haynes and Edelman; Janitors, Edelman and Haynes; Miscellaneous, King and Haynes; Finances, King and McLean; Rules, Haynes and Edelman.

The president of the board is ex officio a member of each committee.

Secretary Spalding has established his office for the present in room 222, Wilcox Block.

Frances and Other Items.

An application for a spur-track franchise along an alley in the Arthur tract, between Palmetto and Willow streets, was made yesterday by the Southern California Railway Company.

A petition from the owners accompanied the application.

Second-hand dealers represent to the Council in a communication filed yesterday that a license tax of $5 a month is an excessive burden, and not to be tolerated.

There are 150 second-hand dealers in the city, and many of them, it is alleged, make less than $50 a month from their business.

Henry T. Hazard yesterday made application for a franchise for an electric road on Main Street, from Evergreen avenue to the point where its

It is the purpose of the backers of this franchise to extend the road in the county to the Catlins and Wa-brow cemeteries, and an application will be filed with the Supervisors in due time.

Property owners on Bond street have petitioned the Council for a street lamp at the intersection of Bond with Fourteenth street.

A petition asking that Thirty-first, Thirty-second and Trinity streets be opened across the right of way of Southern Pacific Railroad Company, was filed with the City Clerk yesterday.

Routine business was discussed by the Civil Service Commission yesterday.

Judgment was given in favor of the Traction company yesterday in the damage suit brought by Mrs. S. T. Phipps.

A number of social-club men applied to the Supervisors for liquor licenses yesterday.

E. O. Drownes was yesterday fined, in the Police Court, for shooting bird-shot into Frank Gonzales. The father of Mrs. Drownes threatens opposing attorney.

Building Superintendent Julius W. Krause served notice on J. A. Bullard, owner of H. H. Grant's home, that he must leave his frame building at Fifth and Hill streets cannot be moved to a lot on the south side of Fifth street, between Olive street and Grand avenue, as he has done. An ordinance, the building ordinance, and placing the west half of the block bounded by Olive, Fifth and Sixth streets and Grand avenue within the first district where only one-story brick buildings are allowed, was passed through the Council on Monday as an emergency measure, and published yesterday morning. On the strength of this ordinance Mr. Bullard was notified not to move his frame building, as planned.

All Bids Rejected.

Bids for the construction of a one-room addition on the second floor in the rear of the City Hall were opened by the Building Committee yesterday morning. The proposal of the committee, and were rejected. The bids were as follows: Henry Autenkamp, $125; Dawson & Eldridge, $124; Paul Haupl, $126.

MRS. SMITH'S NEW SILK JACKET PRONOUNCED INCURABLE.

Quarrel Between Dressmaker and Customer Aired Before Justice Young—The Dress Was Tried on and the Court Decided Against It.

Mrs. E. M. Smith's new silk jacket is a bum fit—especially where it gouges under the arm, not to mention the shoulder—she sits in the collar. This must be so, because Justice Young so decided yesterday, after taking testimony all the afternoon.

Judge Young fought and bled in the war, but had to decide between them.

Legal lore is all very well, but there is only one way to try a case of this kind: Mrs. Smith had to put up the dress.

The prima minister of Mrs. Stewart's dressmaking establishment slipped in after her to see that she didn't put it on hind-side foremost for spite.

The sounds of the ladies making the toilet stole out to the ears of the harassed lawyers and the court. As the rumble swelled in volume, the lawyers, too, were forgotten, drew near together for comfort, and the judge fled into the hall.

Finally the voice of Mrs. Smith slit through the air, like an avenging stiletto. "If you don't shut up, I'll put you out of here!"

Mrs. Stewart, lady prime minister came out ahead of Mrs. Smith, looking as if she was awful mad," she confided to the lawyer.

The door opened, and Mrs. Smith swept in, an indignant gimp of pleasure burst out in costume. Mrs. Smith was very blond, and the dress rustled in a most enticing fashion.

Col. Dyer, the dressmaker's lawyer, stood in open-mouthed admiration for a moment, then turned to the court.

"Well, I think that looks pretty nice," he said.

"I'd be ashamed to be seen in it," snapped Mrs. Smith. "I'd like to see you wearing a coat that didn't fit in the collar," said Col. Dyer, sadly.

Mrs. Potts' forewoman gave Mrs. Stewart, the dressmaker, a look (such a look) and said loftily: "What, and put it in the wrong way of the goods?"

Dyer shrank a foot.

In desperation, Mrs. Stewart went on the stand and made this definite statement in one long breath, quelling underlings:

"Well, the boy—came home—found me—told me—about his—damn business!"

The mean man told her it was none of her "damn business."

DECISION BRINGS SUCCESS.

THOSE WHO HALT, WAVER, BALANCE, ALWAYS SURPASSED BY PROMPTER EN-VALS—MEN WHO LEAD DECIDE QUICK-LY AND DON'T RECONSIDER—MORT-GAGING TOMORROW.

*By Dr. Orison Swett Marden, Author and Editor "Reformer Magazine,
"How to Win," etc., "Business Success,"
"Pushing to the Front," etc., etc.*

"Pushing to the Front" etc., etc.

"When a fool has made up his mind, he never changes it."

"The man who leads decides quickly and doesn't reconsider—mortgaging tomorrow."

CHARACTER IN "The Little Minister" announced his intention of cutting down a certain hindering tree. He never "got at it," the tree widened and grew tall, the man aged, and still the tree stood. "I grew old," he said, "looking for an ax." An artist had a magnificent conception of a Madonna, and he talked enthusiastically about it to friends, but his moods, or his studies, or the light, or his exact idea of the pose, never quite suited, and he never painted it. Still the thought of it possessed him till he could do nothing else. When death came it found him lamenting that the glorious vision he had constantly seen in imagination was never put on canvas to delight others and make his own fame.

Decision of character would have cut down the tree promptly, giving immediately whatever gain its removal would cause. Decision of character would have enabled the artist to execute the conception and make his life fruitful, happy and contented. While the world would have been richer by at least one more beautiful painting.

The vast number of such wavering, procrastinating people sadly cuts down the average of human efficiency and the sum total of the world's achievement.

HUMAN DRIFTWOOD.

Everywhere we see human wrecks, stranded in life because victims of the temptation to consider, waver, and balance until the power to begin and exreconsidering, balancing and weighing again the arguments for and against, after a decision has been reached, until the brain becomes confused and incapable of forming a clear opinion. It weakens the power of decision, destroys self-confidence and is fatal to all achievement. Such a habit is one of the greatest dissipations of energy there is, the man who allows himself to become its victim is doomed to failure. The wobbler never succeeds. He cannot be depended upon—one true trust him. He never gets anywhere, never causes trouble, never helps the community. He is always a weakling and classed with mediocrity. Vacillation always indicates weakness of character, inefficiency. Men with backbone, grit and nerve are noble.

Wavering, vacillating people as a rule are overhopeful. They hesitate today, but they believe that tomorrow will surely bring the new situation which will enable them to help them to decide without a doubt. It is astonishing how much faith such people put in the word "tomorrow" as a talisman, a lucky star which is to bring the good news most desired.

But alas, the chance that was golden today will be within the realms of impossibility tomorrow.

APOLOGETIC FAILURES.

Indecision makes apologizers, executors, and as a rule people who are always making apologies and excuses are good for nothing else. Such people are of no service to anyone, and their half-formed opinions on all subjects. They do not quite know what they believe, politically or religiously. Everything is unsettled in their make-up; they are afraid of the unknown, the unknown. They lay all accusations on the past for reconsideration. They do not dare to make anything final in their lives. Everything about their homes and places of business is half-made.

The employer is always afraid of people who cannot make up their minds, who never quite know what they want, because they are slipshod in their manner of leaving. Half done, they are perhaps enthusiastic at the beginning of a task, but then the favorite refuge of sloth and incompetency. "Strike while the iron is hot" and "Make hay while the sun shines" are golden maxims. Cultivate the power of quick decision, practice, and your weakness will become strength, your capacity will enlarge enormously, and your life will be made successful beyond what you now dream.

From the moment of supreme audacity he carried man; a man over crisis where deliberation or hesitation would have been ruin. No one can hope to succeed in these days, when everything is half-made, unless he has a positive force such as comes from the power of rapid and firm decision. The man who hesitates, who stands still, not knowing which way to go, will very soon be overtaken and pushed to one side by other men.

cuts the thing contemplated was dissipated. These people drift through life halting, uncertain, robbed of their strength, failing to reach the large positions they are fitted for by natural ability, because of this fatal inability to decide. They have no confidence in themselves that must be everybody's opinion. They drift in their own indecision so long that they lose all confidence in it, and they go through life mere floating buoys, thrown up on the shore, at the wills of circumstances which they were too weak to control. They allow themselves to drift into this condition, that to be turned out of the course of the stream by overhanging branches, stopped in their career, as leaves and chips are stopped and turned in their course by every swirl and eddy.

After the current of life turns on, bearing those who struggle free from impediment to wider waters and far distant ports, we see these weak victims huddled together, clinging on rocks, stuck on shells, powerless to reach the great ocean for which they started, because they allowed themselfs to be overcome by adverse currents, to be tossed this way and that way, and to be beaten by the first obstructions they met. Shiftless, hopeless, nervous, aimless and characterless, they are unable to direct their own affairs, bearing their own good intentions. Their hands are stuck forever, unless by chance a strong hand carries them a little further along, only to leave them upon other obstructions within the water subways.

The class of unfortunate languishing in prison, suffering tortures in houses of vice, dying in poison houses, in cells, in attics, vegetating in cramped situations, because of week minds, which have been imposed upon, abuse and misery, is stronger ones.

Half the misery and suffering of the world comes from weakness of the mind and the lack of the power to decide. No matter what a person's capability may be, no matter what he is promised to do, if he lacks decision, if he is ever in a life threatening of circumstances, he will be the puppet of stronger minds.

ABILITY WITHOUT DECISION.

The world is full of failures who cannot say "no" with emphasis. One decided "no" spoken at the right time would have saved many a life from a frightful wreck.

Many strong, capable men, suffice for the humiliation of seeing and defeating men who have great power of decision, plunger far ahead in the race of life, while they with colossal ability floundered about, creating great expectations, only to disappoint, to be disappointed, simply because they lack the power of vigorous resolution. Thousands who were naturally able men sleep in obscurity, because they lacked the power to decide, they became mere victims of circumstances.

We all know such people. They are forever asking the advice of everybody they meet, getting the opinions of others who never act in life, never daring to trust in their own judgment, never venturing any bold step unless somebody's approbation. For the time being the opinion of the one they are consulting is the one they will adopt it. But alas, when they meet another person, the picture which stood on plainly upon the canvas, like a dissolving grow dimmer and dimmer, and is removed by another.

One of the most dangerous habits in which a youth can indulge is that of the boy looked over the field the first morning and decided that the work could be done in two days. So he spent the day playing with other boys. The next day he did not even have time to begin the task, and he whispered to his accusing conscience that the work could certainly be done in one day, and went off again to play. The third day, however, the field appeared much more difficult, the boy sat down awhile to think before he began his work. Lulled by the hum of the insects, the soft grass and the cool shade of the trees he fell asleep. When he awoke this noon, and he went to his dinner. As he could not possibly mow three acres in one afternoon, he went off to play again with his boy friends. Next day he ran home, and the next until the next overripe grass was ruined.

You may have come from a hesitating family. If indecision runs in the blood you inherit, rouse yourself before it does your energy and ruins your chances in life. Do not wait till tomorrow; begin today. Take up the first important duty that awaits you, face it with courage and determination, and effort upon it until it is accomplished. Then take up the next task in the same way. If you have this unfortunate habit of putting off, resolve that whatever you will do, you will do it now, and not tomorrow. Overcome it and allow your mind to wander, to balance motives, or to hesitate. Shut the fatal habit of putting off, as you would the temptation to overeat, or to dawdle, jump up and go at some task with all your might. Begin right, but be sure to begin right away.

DON'T MORTGAGE TOMORROW.

Procrastination is more than "a thief of time." It ruins your opportunity.

"Every moment lost," said Napoleon, "gives an opportunity for misfortune." Procrastination robs you of freedom and makes you a slave to your unperformed duties, fearsome and trembling for the effects of your neglect. How can you expect to succeed when your tomorrows are always mortgaged with debts which should have been paid today?

"Tomorrow!" It is the devil's motto. All history is strewn with its brilliant victims, the wrecks of half-finished plans, uncompleted resolutions, half done, they are perhaps enthusiastic in the favorite refuge of sloth and incompetency. "Strike while the iron is hot" and "Make hay while the sun shines" are golden maxims. Cultivate the power of quick decision, practice, and your weakness will become strength, your capacity will enlarge enormously, and your life will be made successful beyond what you now dream.

cuts the thing contemplated was dissipated. These people drift through life halting, uncertain, robbed of their strength, failing to reach the large positions they are fitted for by natural ability, because of this fatal inability to decide. They have no confidence in themselves that must be everybody's opinion. They drift in their own indecision so long that they lose all confidence in it, and they go through life mere floating buoys, thrown up on the shore, at the wills of circumstances which they were too weak to control. They allow themselves to drift into this condition, that to be turned out of the course of the stream by overhanging branches, stopped in their career, as leaves and chips are stopped and turned in their course by every swirl and eddy.

After the current of life turns on, bearing those who struggle free from impediment to wider waters and far distant ports, we see these weak victims huddled together, clinging on rocks, stuck on shells, powerless to reach the great ocean for which they started, because they allowed themselfs to be overcome by adverse currents, to be tossed this way and that way, and to be beaten by the first obstructions they met. Shiftless, hopeless, nervous, aimless and characterless, they are unable to direct their own affairs, bearing their own good intentions. Their hands are stuck forever, unless by chance a strong hand carries them a little further along, only to leave them upon other obstructions within the water subways.

The class of unfortunate languishing in prison, suffering tortures in houses of vice, dying in poison houses, in cells, in attics, vegetating in cramped situations, because of week minds, which have been imposed upon, abuse and misery, is stronger ones.

Half the misery and suffering of the world comes from weakness of the mind and the lack of the power to decide. No matter what a person's capability may be, no matter what he is promised to do, if he lacks decision, if he is ever in a life threatening of circumstances, he will be the puppet of stronger minds.

ABILITY WITHOUT DECISION.

The world is full of failures who cannot say "no" with emphasis. One decided "no" spoken at the right time would have saved many a life from a frightful wreck.

Many strong, capable men, suffice for the humiliation of seeing and defeating men who have great power of decision, plunger far ahead in the race of life, while they with colossal ability floundered about, creating great expectations, only to disappoint, to be disappointed, simply because they lack the power of vigorous resolution. Thousands who were naturally able men sleep in obscurity, because they lacked the power to decide, they became mere victims of circumstances.

We all know such people. They are forever asking the advice of everybody they meet, getting the opinions of others who never act in life, never daring to trust in their own judgment, never venturing any bold step unless somebody's approbation.

For the time being the opinion of the one they are consulting is the one they will adopt it. But alas, when they meet another person, the picture which stood on plainly upon the canvas, like a dissolving grow dimmer and dimmer, and is removed by another.

DO IT NOW.

A great foe to decision is the habit of putting off procrastination. It is destructive to the energy that does things; it paralyzes the power to achieve. Every moment's delay makes it harder and harder for the procrastinator to start. It is the beginning which is difficult—the first step that costs.

There is a story of a boy who agreed during his father's absence to mow three acres of grass in as many days. The boy looked over the field the first morning and decided that the work could be done in two days. So he spent the day playing with other boys. The next day he did not even have time to begin the task, and he whispered to his accusing conscience that the work could certainly be done in one day, and went off again to play. The third day, however, the field appeared much more difficult, the boy sat down awhile to think before he began his work. Lulled by the hum of the insects, the soft grass and the cool shade of the trees he fell asleep. When he awoke this noon, and he went to his dinner. As he could not possibly mow three acres in one afternoon, he went off to play again with his boy friends. Next day he ran home, and the next until the next overripe grass was ruined.

You may have come from a hesitating family. If indecision runs in the blood you inherit, rouse yourself before it does your energy and ruins your chances in life. Do not wait till tomorrow; begin today. Take up the first important duty that awaits you, face it with courage and determination, and effort upon it until it is accomplished. Then take up the next task in the same way. If you have this unfortunate habit of putting off, resolve that whatever you will do, you will do it now, and not tomorrow. Overcome it and allow your mind to wander, to balance motives, or to hesitate. Shut the fatal habit of putting off, as you would the temptation to overeat, or to dawdle, jump up and go at some task with all your might. Begin right, but be sure to begin right away.

DON'T MORTGAGE TOMORROW.

Procrastination is more than "a thief of time." It ruins your opportunity.

"Every moment lost," said Napoleon, "gives an opportunity for misfortune." Procrastination robs you of freedom and makes you a slave to your unperformed duties, fearsome and trembling for the effects of your neglect. How can you expect to succeed when your tomorrows are always mortgaged with debts which should have been paid today?

"Tomorrow!" It is the devil's motto. All history is strewn with its brilliant victims, the wrecks of half-finished plans, uncompleted resolutions, half done, they are perhaps enthusiastic in the favorite refuge of sloth and incompetency. "Strike while the iron is hot" and "Make hay while the sun shines" are golden maxims. Cultivate the power of quick decision, practice, and your weakness will become strength, your capacity will enlarge enormously, and your life will be made successful beyond what you now dream.

From the moment of supreme audacity he carried man; a man over crisis where deliberation or hesitation would have been ruin. No one can hope to succeed in these days, when everything is half-made, unless he has a positive force such as comes from the power of rapid and firm decision. The man who hesitates, who stands still, not knowing which way to go, will very soon be overtaken and pushed to one side by other men.

Los Angeles County: Cities and Suburban Places.

(NEWS REPORTS FROM TIMES CORRESPONDENTS.)

PASADENA MERCHANTS BETTER WAKE UP.
LAMARDA ROAD WOULD SWITCH TRADE TO LOS ANGELES.

Board of Trade May Work for Extension Out Colorado Street—President Will Visit Two Hours—Chink Laundry Objected To.

PASADENA. Office of The Times, 50 South Raymond Avenue, March 17.—There is a concerted movement to extend the Colorado-street line to Lamarda Park at once. The Pacific Electric has been operating a line on Colorado as far as Hill Avenue for a long time and the company holds franchise for extension to Lamarda. But this franchise does not have to be used for a year and a half. At present the residents of Lamarda are considering a proposition from the company for giving them facilities by way of the Monrovia-Los Angeles branch. They have been, it will be remembered, trying to raise a subsidy of $100,000 for Huntington for this purpose.

A number of citizens, merchants and others have viewed it with alarm. It seems that if Lamarda Park accepts the proposition, Pasadena will not be able to compete with it.

Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Rider went over to Los Angeles yesterday, where they will together spend a couple of weeks visiting friends. Mrs. Rider will then return for a couple of months in visiting friends in Santa Barbara and other places.

S. O. Laughlin and wife were fishing yesterday with the Helen, and caught thirty-five rock cod and whitefish. Mrs. Laughlin intended to attract all the larger ones and most of the smaller ones to her hook.

Charles Barrett, until recently connected with the editorial staff of the Detroit News-Tribune, is entertained by Dr. and Mrs. G. Roseau at Miramar. Mr. Barrett and his mother came to California twelve years ago and located in Pasadena, where they lived for many years, when Mrs. Barrett died, and Mr. Barrett returned to Detroit. His longing to return to California never forsook him, and last month he resigned his position, came back and purchased a bearing orange grove ten acres at Covina, and will make that his home.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Vincent and two children from Phelps, N. Y., came to Avalon a month ago to stay a week with Mr. and Mrs. Clark.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark is looking into the a prominent resident of Lamarda, who thinks that he doesn't think that he can raise the money Huntington desires as bonus. It seems that those who would prefer to have better living connection with Pasadena. Los Angeles is too far away, and if the road were built to Pasadena the large city would not be more than a few miles more distant than by the way to the Monrovia route. Lamarda has a population of about 200, according to the latest figures.

It will be a hard thing to $100 among that many ranch-in the other hand, to connect Lamarda with Pasadena, it would be necessary to extend the Colorado-street line only about a mile and a half.

COUNCIL ROUTINE.

William Reynolds presided at the meeting of the City Council in the absence of Mayor who is still ill. The following resolution was voted:

President Roosevelt;

WASHINGTON, March 16.

Pasadena, Cal.: Presidential election at 10:30 a.m. on March 18.

Please confer with civil and commercial leaders of Pasadena and community.

President, informing him as to action and entertainment, and other communication if necessary,

THOMAS E. HARD.

Communication was referred to a committee for action. The plan is to make a short drive for the President

Fair Oaks avenue and California street.

Mr. Gearhart says she knows

NEW BREVIETTES.

Monday at his temporary home,

and Colorado streets,

had a brief interview with Dr. T. M.

He never again, conducting a new on East Colorado street, came here to Seattle and recently a few weeks ago in health. He leaves a widow, who was married to Mr. Gearhart.

The Council replied that the world to be given consideration.

CLAREMONT.

COLLEGE NOTES.

CLAREMONT, March 17.—Edmund Vance Cooke, the poet impersonator, recited his verses to a crowded house in the Claremont Hotel. Cooke, skillful and tactful, he at once got into perfect harmony with his hearers, and held their interest first with humor and then with pathos through an entire performance.

Advice was received this morning that President Roosevelt is to honor Pomona College with a visit and a speech May 8. The student body is enthusiastic over the prospect.

Prof. Frederic A. Bacon, for some time director of the Los Angeles Oratorio Society and director of the immense chorus of recent international Y.P.S.C.E. convention at San Francisco, was honored by the college authorities to be the head of the Pomona College School of Music during the coming year. Prof. Bacon's splendid services in vocal instruction the present year led to this important position.

His wife got crossed to South Oaklawn avenue near the hotel and set fire to one of his rooms.

Mr. Klamroth gave his second vocal at the Hotel Green last evening.

Third Day Dress Goods Sale.

This is not a small merchandising effort but one of the largest trade deals ever consummated by any Los Angeles retail firm, for in addition to our already large stock this purchase of 25000 yards of new textiles from the administrator of Bernard & Son, New York, gives us a pre-eminence in the dress goods traffic for this season which every thinking woman will appreciate. As we give no discounts to any one, our regular prices are always below competition, and in this case doubly so, for some of these goods are sold from one-fourth to one-third less than actual wholesale prices.

INVESTIGATION PLANNED.
ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.FRANCISCO, March 17.—Information has been received in the city that the snow melts from the mountains there will be a great investigation into the nature of lands in Placerville, Lassen, El Dorado, Shasta,
Trinity and Humboldt counties, which are interesting to the peopleInvestigation will be conducted by agents of the United States Land Office at Washington and Geological Survey.The matter of party roads came early in the day. The information given was to the Wabash, Wisconsin Central and Great Western, that they would throw party rates open to the public, and no longer confine them to theatrical parties, baseball clubs and organizations giving entertainments. Other lines protested that such action would give the ticket brokers a new lease of life, as it would permit them to organize parties and scalp rates.The row over the matter was intensified by the fact that the Burlington and other lines had sent out directions of instructions to agents telling them to talk the matter over and reach a common conclusion. To make matters worse, it was learned that one of the strong lines had asked legal advice regarding the Immigrant Bureau, which is thought by some to be in violation of the new law. The purpose of the company mentioned is to withdraw from the bureau provided it is held to be illegal.

GRAND ARMY INDIGNANT.

RAILROADS' RATES UNJUST.
(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.)BOSTON, March 17.—Past department commandants and members of the A.R.C. national campment at San Francisco, in August, met today and discussed ways and means of reaching that city and the accommodations on arriving there. It was felt by those present that the railroads were unjustly discriminating against the G.A.
R. in their rates, as it was stated that the lowest fare offered to Massachusetts was $1, while the roads gave the Cuban Endeavor convention of New Jersey of $2.A resolution embodying the views entertained was adopted, and a committee of six will be appointed to negotiate for a lower rate.

BOUGHT BY SANTA FE.

CALIFORNIA AND NEVADA.
(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-A.M.)OAKLAND, March 17.—By the terms of a deed which was recorded today,
the Oakland and East Side Railroad Company, which is controlled by the Santa Fe system, becomes the owner of the California and Nevada Railroad. This is looked upon as the final step in the matter of the acquisition by the Santa Fe of terminal facilities in Oakland.The California and Nevada has the right of way from the Forty-fifth-street line in Emeryville to the town of Bodie.
It claims as one of its most valuable assets a pass through the Sierras.
The transfer was made by A. E.
Laveaga, who recently became the owner of the California and Nevada, by purchase at foreclosure sale.

Effect of Colonist's Rates.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 17.—For four weeks now the Southern Pacific colonist rates have been in effect, and a total of 11,220 persons have come westward and entered California with these reduced-rate tickets. If the present average should be maintained, a total of nearly forty-five thousand colonists will have come into California during the period of four months covered by this reduced rate.

TANGLING WEB OF SCANDAL.

Getting Deeper into Meses in Burdick Inquest.

Park Sure That Crime Was the Work of Pennell.

Mrs. Paine on Stand—Her Relations With Murdered Man. Witness Missing.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.) NEW YORK, March 17.—The name of Arthur R. Pennell, who was named as co-respondent in the Burdick divorce proceedings, and who met a terrible death in a stone quarry, two weeks after Edwin L. Burdick was murdered, constantly came to the surface in the inquest before Judge Murphy today. Thomas L. Park, Burdick's former business partner and close friend, while on the witness stand this afternoon gave it as his opinion based upon information and deposition that Pennell or a hired assassin murdered Burdick. Fears of disclosure were growing out of the divorce proceedings instituted by Mr. Burdick against his wife, Mr. Park firmly believed, was the motive for the crime.

Mr. Park told of conversations he had had with Burdick relative to trouble with Pennell. On one occasion, Burdick told Park that Pennell had threatened suicide if the suit was not stopped. Pennell threatened to kill both himself and Mrs. Burdick.

Mrs. Gertrude B. Paine, wife of Dr. S. H. Paine, and Mrs. Burdick, was closely questioned regarding the relations between the two families, and especially of the feelings displayed by the men toward each other. Mrs. Paine's house was searched by the police on the Sunday following the murder.

Today, the District Attorney touched only casually on her whereabouts on the night of the murder, devoting most of the time to questions concerning her relations with Burdick, and her knowledge of the feeling between Pennell and Burdick. Mrs. Paine denied having been at Burdick's house at any time since she accompanied by Dr. Paine. Her relations with Burdick were purely social.

Dr. Paine was examined. He was on the stand for only a few minutes. He was in Batavia on the night of the murder.

A. Carlson, a Swedish boarder at Mrs. Paine's house, was very nervous while on the witness stand. He thought Mrs. Paine was in the house on the night of the murder, but could not say positively. Harry C. Cushing, the other occupant of the Paine house on the night of the murder has left the city, according to testimony given by Mrs. Paine today; her whereabouts is not known.

Mrs. Paine was asked:

"Have you met Mr. Burdick frequently since Mrs. Burdick left home?"

"I have seen him a number of times."

"At the dancing club, downtown, and on the car."

"By appointment?"

"Twice or three times by appointment."

"How did he make the appointments?"

"By telephone."

The appointments, according to the witness, were kept, once at Lang's candy store, once at the Genesee and once also at some summer streets, six weeks or two months ago.

On last occasion, Burdick talked about his wife. He said that the gossip was that he had been going on about his wife was true, and that he had the necessary evidence to procure a divorce. He did not say exactly that he had sent her away, but that was what was gathered by the witness.

Burdick told Mrs. Paine that he felt very ill, and Pennell, his friend, coming into his room, told him, "He said he had had a talk with Pennell, and that Pennell had agreed to leave the city. Once before Pennell had promised to leave home, but had not done so. Mr. Burdick never asked the witness to fix up an appointment with Pennell.

Mrs. Paine said she met Burdick downtown several times by appointment, but did not remember what she talked about or why the appointments were made.

"When was the last time you had that conversation with him?"

"On the day of his death."

"What did you say to him?"

"I told him I had seen him, and he was going to attend the Elmwood dance or not. He said that if the Pennells were not going to be there, he might go. He told him I had a cold and would not go. The night previous he had called me up, and asked me if I could find out whether the Pennells were in the city, and let him know the following morning. That was why I telephoned to him the next morning."

Burdick called on her several times while Mrs. Warren of Cleveland was there, and had taken them to the theatre and she thought to the dancing club.

"While he was talking to you at Main and Summer streets did he tell you that Mrs. Warren was getting a divorce from her husband?"

"Yes, sir."

"Burdick thought a good deal of Mrs. Warren, didn't he?"

"Yes, he admired her very much."

"Did he say there was any arrangement by which he and Mrs. Pennell were to be married, when she got a divorce?"

"No, sir."

Mrs. Paine said she was at home on the night of the murder.

Witness was at Pennell's house about two weeks ago, and had a talk with Mrs. Pennell.

"Did Mrs. Pennell say she was going to get a divorce from Pennell?"

"She said she was, and she told the story that she was getting a divorce, but she said she had no intention of doing anything of the kind. She said she had spoken to Burdick about taking his wife away."

The witness stated that Burdick had previously told her that Mrs. Pennell wanted him to take Mrs. Burdick back. He had said that Mrs. Pennell had caused all the trouble in the first place, and that it was too late for her to interfere.

"Did Burdick ever express his feelings toward Pennell?"

"He said that he would forgive Pennell all that he had done, if he would only marry Mrs. Burdick. He said he would permit her to have the children six months of the year."

"Did he ever say anything about marrying her?"

"I am not sure. Who would there be to take care of my children, if I had a murder on my hands?"

Charles S. Park, Burdick's partner, was asked: "Did you form any opinion as to who committed this murder?"

"Yes, sir."

"When?"

"It was after leaving the house the day the body was found."

"Is it an opinion based on information or upon supposition?"

"Upon both."

"Do you have some information?"

"Yes, sir."

"Are you sufficiently satisfied that your opinion is correct to state whom you think the murderer was?"

"I think so."

"Who was he?"

"Arthur R. Pennell, or some hired assassin."

"What makes you think Pennell killed him?"

"All the circumstances lead me to that conclusion. I am satisfied that the murder grew out of the divorce proceedings."

"Do you know whether Pennell was in Burdick's house that night?"

"I do."

"Do you know whether he had a key to Burdick's house?"

"No."

"Did you ever publicly accuse Pennell after he died?"

"I do not know when I first expressed that opinion."

The inquest will be continued tomorrow.

SMALL SHARE IN ESTATE.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

BUFFALO, March 17.—The authorities have learned that Mrs. Edwin L. Burdick had assigned a portion of the estate held by his wife to Pennell. In the first place, it is said, half of the estimated $25,000 was made payable to the children. Less than one half originally given to Mrs. Burdick in favor, probably $10,000, was in small policies, and the remainder, portion of the estate assigned by Mrs. Burdick to her husband. The assigned policies therefore become part of his estate. All she will receive from his estate is her dower in one third of his property, and the amount assigned to Pennell is payable to her that she did not assign. To Venezuela's plenipotentiary, Herbert W. Bowen, the news was most welcome, as the payment of the money was an endorsement of his motives.

BUFFALO, March 17.—It is understood that the District Attorney will call three witnesses tomorrow. Mrs. Burdick, Miss Lillian Rose, the domestic in the Pennell home, and a furnace man formerly employed by Pennell. It is said that the morning following the killing, Mrs. Burdick, who had attended to the furnace, told him that he had attended to the furnace. It was the first time in two years, the furnace man is reported to have said, that Pennell attended to the furnace.

NOT PREDICTING VICTORY.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.J.

LONDON, March 18.—While giving elaborate descriptions of the Shamrock

III, this morning's papers do not hazard any opinions as to her prospects of "lifting" the cup. They express great satisfaction that she shows a return to the "wholesome British type" of racing cutter. The Daily Telegraph says the design gives her a look which every line of speed, and which, when the boat is heeled over in a "breach," will give her a long and powerful side.

BUSINESS.

Local clearings at the Los Angeles clearinghouse yesterday aggregated $1,307,377.25, as compared with $673,371.45 for the corresponding period a year ago. Several large real estate deals have swelled the clearings lately.

A large volume of long corn was thrown on the Chicago market which affected wheat somewhat. A severe decline in provisions was noted. The Southern Pacific stock dominated the New York market, and with some of the leading specialties rose a point above last night.

BIG BUSINESS AND BIG POSSIBILITIES.

The United States Congress has formally declared that insurance is commerce. The declaration came in the shape of an amendment to the law creating the Department of Commerce and Labor, so as to include "corporations engaged in insurance" among the corporations "engaged in interstate commerce, or in commerce between the United States and any foreign country."

Insurance is commerce. Well, we rather think so—and commerce on a gigantic scale. Take one form of insurance alone—life insurance. The gross income of the American life-insurance companies last year is reported to amount to the enormous total of $6,000,000,000. If to this is added the income not reported, it would swell the amount to $7,000,000,000. The business of some of the leading companies greatly transcends in value the trade of many of the important countries of the world. For instance, the assets of one New York company amount to over $32,000,000.

The man who first originated the idea of life insurance is lost to fame. Some crude attempts along this line were made by individuals in England during the 16th century, but it was not until the year 1606 that a royal charter was issued for the first insurance company, known as the "Amicable Society for a Perpetual Assurance Office." Since then, not only has the business immensely increased, but many important changes and improvements have been introduced, one of the most noteworthy of these being the introduction of the non-forfeitable clause in insurance policies, so that if a man is prevented, by misfortune or accident, from continuing his payments, he does not lose all he has paid in. Life insurance has been transformed from a gamble into something that closely approaches an exact science. The calculations of the skilled actuaries employed by the insurance companies are based upon observations of a great number of deaths, extending over a long period, and tables have been prepared showing, to the fraction of a year, the "expectation" of life at any age from childhood to a point beyond that fixed by the Psalmist as the allotted period of man's life. These figures are, of course, the average, and may be materially increased, or reduced, by careful observation of hygienic rules on part of the individual, or otherwise.

In addition to life insurance there are many other forms of insurance, such as insurance against fire and accidents, marine insurance, insurance of growing crops, insurance of window glass, and so forth. In England there was recently started a company to insure against smallpox, and at the time of the Queen's Jubilee insurance was taken out against the occurrence of bad weather during the ceremonies. An interesting feature of the insurance business that has cropped out of late is the insurance by the general public of the lives of prominent people, whose death would have a serious effect on public affairs, or on the stock market. King Edward has large sums thus depending upon his life, and in this country J. P. Morgan has been heavily insured in like manner.

The main thing to be provided for in an insurance company is reliability. Unless that is provided the question of the rate of premium is of minor importance. An insurance policy that does not insure is about as valuable, in case of need, as a gun that isn't loaded, or one that, when loaded, refuses to go off. Much discredit has been cast upon the insurance business by the organization of fraternal insurance associations, based on a loose or faulty foundation. These concerns get along swimmingly as long as the members are comparatively young, but as they grow old and die off a crash frequently occurs, leaving thousands of people unprotected at an age when they are not acceptable to legitimate insurance concerns.

Some years ago a well-known Los Angeles banker, now gone before, expressed to the editor of this journal the opinion that Los Angeles was destined to become a great financial center, drawing money from all over the United States, a center of heavy financial operation (including life insurance,) where great industrial and which non-unionists can be stopped from working.

If violence can be justified at all, the fullest measure of violence necessary to accomplish the purpose for which it is employed, is justifiable. It will never do to say to the advocates and exemplars of violence, "you may assault; you may maim; but you must not kill!" Such hair-splitting would be absurd and inadmissible.

At Waterbury, Ct., a few nights ago, a street-car conductor and motorman were assassinated by strikers, who shot them from ambush. The conductor was killed; the motorman was nearly killed. If the pia of the apologists for violence be tenable the assassination of these men was justifiable, and the assassins were within their rights in using "the only weapon" left them to enforce their demands.

To such monstrous conclusions are the apologists for violence inevitably led in their pitiable attempts to justify the employment of brute force by strikers in the course of their "bar-gaining."

Specious pleas in behalf of lawlessness cannot deceive clear-headed, fair-minded men. But they often deceive shallow-minded and ignorant men, to their own undoing. Much of the violence and the disregard for law which have characterized industrial contests of late years can be traced to the silly attempts of superficial writers to justify the commission of crime as a legitimate weapon to be used by strikers to win their battles.

Those who follow such shallow teachings will in due time learn their mistake. Crime is crime, no matter by whom or in what cause committed, that the courts have been culpable in, not adequately punishing the crimes committed in the misused and dishonored name of labor, is a fact patent to everybody. This mistaken leniency has borne ill fruit, in the apparently growing disregard for law.

The font-strike rule in baseball is to be abolished this year to the joy of all lovers of the national game. It was well defined and a snare and an investigator of conductors as to how so many things were happening that the spectator couldn't understand.

However, the remainder of the State may have fared at the hands of the Legislature, Los Angeles would seem to have secured about everything it went after. The long pull, the strong pull and the pull altogether is as potential as ever.

The Southwest Miners' Association is a thing of the past, so far as active operations are concerned. Yesterday that organization, which has been identified with mining interests in the Southwest for several years, closed its doors, and its valuable exhibit of minerals was turned over to the Chamber of Commerce.

Sincere regret has been expressed that the association had decided to quit the field, as mining men are of the opinion that the best interests of the industry demand the protection of an organization that has the backing of legitimate mining operators.

The directors of the association have voted to close the exhibit before first submittal of the matter to the members. It is claimed that the association was self-supporting, and that it was free from debt. It is also claimed by those who oppose the closing of the exhibit, that the miners' cause is not strong enough to merit a separate organization.

Buffalo Bill has now attacked the mean and lowly tourist camp, breaking to every loves of his fellowman. It would be a glorious idea were thousands of Americans who are so busy making money that they cannot look after their children, sent to schools of instruction for parents. There is more need for such schools than for the building of great universities, or the piling up of great wealth for dissolute youths to spend in idleness and wickedness.

Wright, the financier whose colossal and dignified manner of skinning the Londoners is just now attracting widespread attention, deserves the whole world as an important incident, says that it is really nothing about nothing, and that the total loss of the English in the whole transaction will not exceed $20,000,000. When the shrewd American sharper cannot invent something honorable and legitimate with which to mystify and appeal the unscrupulous foreigner, he promulgates some colossal scheme that shakes the trusting all down for a few million shekels, and then creates additional wonder and amazement in the mind of the victims, by calmly alluding to the transaction as though it were the extreme case.

American enterprises and capital are back of nearly all the important enterprises. At least two concerns, with American cash and brains behind them, are now considering the question of a transcontinental electric and electric tramway to Jesus Maria, Ocampo. The tram would connect with Minas or some point further west. As to the feasibility of the plan there seems to be no doubt, and that there could be no doubt in the minds of the engineers.

STANFORD STUDENTS STRIKE.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY. March 17.—A strike broke out at the University Inn last night. The students who had been waiting tables walked out in a body. The cause of the trouble is that Mr. Hunter, the new manager, is a foreigner, and that he is not a student. The students appointed a committee to ask Mr. Hunter for the reinstatement of the discharged waiters. The manager refused to do this, so the students, headed by the director and a corps of the kitchen force waited upon the students at breakfast and lunch. Hunter declares he will not rehire any of the students who have struck out.

Hostilities have commenced between Mr. H. G. De Lussan, of New York, and Mr. Denver regarding the building of another link in another railroad chain that is indirectly to bind Los Angeles to the great East. Should this battle draw Mr. Harriman's attention away from the scheme for the construction of a ship canal across the Isthmus of Panama, Mr. Moffitt will have performed a service to the public of much moment.

Gov. Pardee having signed the bond bill, it is now possible for the secessionists of California to vote bonds for the construction of highways worthy the name. This is a Los Angeles measure, and Los Angeles county should be the first to avail itself of the opportunity presented. We have been talking good roads for many long weary years. It is now in order to build some.

To such monstrous conclusions are the apologists for violence inevitably led in their pitiable attempts to justify the employment of brute force by strikers in the course of their "bar-gaining."

About nine-eighths of the Democratic party is consumed in trying to keep Cleveland and Bryan from meeting each other at banquets and flying at each other's throats. So blinded are they, in this line, that they cannot leave off guarding the situation in order to attack the Republican enemy. "Here's a state of things."

There is evidence that the courts are awakening to a keener understanding of the duties which they owe to the community—to the entire community, not to any class or faction. The awakening is timely. There has been too much temporizing with justice. Let the sovereign law prevail; let all violators of its provisions be punished impartially and as the law provides. Let us have, in truth as well as in theory, "equal rights for all, special privileges for none."

Would it not be a good thing for Los Angeles to send criminals from the bars of the courts to the confines of the State's prisons, but there is an innumerable supply of raw material to draw from in all appearances. But this is the penalty of being a growing city. The attraction affects the dissolute and the marauding element in the same way that it does the good, and thrifty, and provident who come to a new land for a goodly purpose. The suppression of crime—the education of the youth of the land along the lines of honesty, obedience and morality being about the only way to suppress it—should command the best thought of all good people in every community in America. And the way to educate the youth is to educate their parents to understand that they owe a duty to their children in giving them proper training, that is likewise a duty to the State and the nation. The constant stream of young men and women that we see everywhere on the downward path is heart-breaking to every loves of his fellowman.

It would be a glorious idea were thousands of Americans who are so busy making money that they cannot look after their children, sent to schools of instruction for parents. There is more need for such schools than for the building of great universities, or the piling up of great wealth for dissolute youths to spend in idleness and wickedness.

According to official advices, the miners will open up a new vein of gold in Los Angeles in attendance upon the Fiesta, but we may be sure that that of a day will be as large as five, or six, fine, ordinary days.

It might be a good thing if a crevasse were to occur on the bank of the raging Mississippi just above St. Louis. There doesn't appear to be any other better way to clean the boulders out of that town.

The entire instrument is overlaid with gold. It is mounted upon three eagles, which represent the three continents, and standing upon square pedestal draped with laurel wreaths.

In form and decoration the piano is distinctly American. It adheres to no foreign model. Its hammer action is perfectly composite, being organized into independent life by the genius of its creators. The body of the piano is without mouldings, and is adorned with a graceful scroll of acanthus in various places, which looks extremely beautiful against the golden background. These scrolls frame and link together the arms of the original thirteen colonies, which arms begin to appear right and left, appearing upon shields of dull maroon in the order in which these States adopted the Federal Constitution. The three American eagles which decorate the legs are overlaid with gold, and the tail feathers, which is very effective, combined with the brighter gold leaf of the body part.

The instrument is the one-hundred thousandth piano made by Steinway & Sons and was donated to the United States in commemoration of this point in the company's progress.

to the library board, as to the findings in the case. It will then remain for the board to decide what changes, if any, should be made in the investigation as the result of the investigation.All the evidence points to the conclusion that Miss Jones, and the other discomfited, of Miss Miller and her abetment in the making of her frivolous charges. It is to be determined, however, that the board will so far as to discharge Miss Miller, or to oust her from the position of second librarian, a position which Librarian Jones has so far surmounted.The investigation was resumed last night, Miss Celia Gleason, the first assistant librarian, was called as a witness for the defense. In response to the introduction of the Chicago newspaper system in the library, corroborating what Miss Jones, Mrs. Wade and others had already said on the subject, and noting it perfectly over, Mr. Miller was very persuaded when she claimed the sole credit for the work.Francis J. Thomas, Esq., counsel for Miss Jones, and who was instrumental in getting the new library board elected and the new system introduced, appeared on this point by telling what he understood of the matter.
Mr. Parsons, attorney for Miss Miller, tried to get Miss Jones and Gleason to confess that they intended an article that appeared in The Times on February 24, in which the library was first called to the turmoil in the library. Mr. Thomas objected to the questions asked by Mr. Parsons as being entered into on the case, but Mr. Parsons came to the rescue and asked to know how The Times got its information. The assertion that "records of the board had been tampered with to serve certain purposes" failed to convince Mr. Parsons of his object with Mr. Dooley, and he insisted upon knowing whether the librarian and other first assistant, or either of them, had inspired the Times article. Mr. Dooley, however, was perfectly innocent of knowledge of the source of The Times' information; they very properly replied to the negative to Mr. Dooley's question, and Mr. Parsons, thereupon, was silent on that subject than

THE OPTICIAN
309 S. Spring Streetstockaded and as adequately protected as the jail itself."I wouldn't want these fellows employed on any other job for several reasons. The expense of transportation and guards' salaries when employed outside public work more than offsets the work done, and besides expenses depend on honest and necessary. Then there is always the danger of escape. It isn't right to shoot these men down, but as many of them may be dangerous criminals that is just what the guard would have to do."As for the guard work in jail yard, the tramp ordinarily has no trade, and everything except the commonest labor he makes a sorry mess of.""It's funny the way this city is tied up in red tape," said Attorney Lamar A.
Harris yesterday. "A business corporation has the power granted it to buy, sell and build, and even insurance corporations have considerable more power than a municipality in this country. But when you want to put up a convention hall or anything else there has to be a special act of the Legislature before we are allowed to do it. It appears from this that our municipal corporation is not just posed to have as much sense as the weakest sort of a business man. If we've got to ask permission for everything we do will move slower than a pair of turtles, and never get any place."

"I suppose these asinine restrictions were originally made by some wiseacre who believed he could thereby prevent most theft and fraud, but the result would be the opposite, for a city is compelled to go so slowly that anybody can get right in and walk off with the sack before a steel could be bent. Now, we are going to build that convention hall all right, I suppose, but through an infinite deal of trouble. Let some legislator introduce a bill at the next session giving cities more freedom to have some

and sensible public corporations and their memory will be blessedly handed down forever."

Fire Commissioner A. P. Thompson

believes that the department boys may be entirely out of the Fiesta "doings"

this year. Said he: "Previous to this year the parade of the fire department has always been one of the great features of the floral parade. The noisiness of the engines, the possibility for decoration and display on all the paraphernalia, and the large size of the force always made them a factor in the relays. Now, as far as the present parade will be given at night, and everything in it will be featured only by electricity.

I believe it would be impossible under these conditions to fit up the engines

in a way that would be effective.

The city may have

elephant and deer parades

So it can stand heavy drains

vided there is a thin as too

IN BUILDING GAIN
WE'RE STILL AHEAD.

Building reports from the two leading cities of the country for February, as compiled by the Construction News of Chicago, show Los Angeles still ranks first in order of percentage of gain and seventh in the amount of construction authorized. While the percentage of gain of Los Angeles is not so great as it was for January, it is still more than satisfactory. It is to be expected that the report will always lead all the cities.

The report in detail is as follows:

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Dog on Bixel Street.

At the intersection of Fourth and Bixel streets a water pipe has burst, and the result is a bog of mud almost impassable.

Fire Cleared Cleaners.

A fire of unknown origin started in the cleaning and clothing shop of John Dono, No. 255 East Fifth street, early yesterday morning and destroyed $250 worth of stock, furniture and fixtures. The loss on the building was $25.

Business Property.

Brick Wholesale Block.

The contract for the erection of the three-story brick wholesale building 60x111 feet, on the south side of Ord street, ninety-seven feet west of Main street, unimproved; consideration named, $2000. ## Spokane Banker Dies.

S. R. Glidden, a banker well known in Spokane, Wash., who has been spending some time at the Angelus in this city, died in the hotel yesterday afternoon from complications of ailments originating with rheumatism. His family was with him at the time of his death, and left yesterday afternoon with the remains for Spokane.

Solemnly on Contractor.

Maryland street between Boylston and Bixel streets at one time was in good condition, well graded and graded, but the owner's contractor got his slovenly work in and the street is ruined. The trench was carelessly filled and never rolled, as called for in the specifications. Result—a high ridge in the center of the street, travel all forced to the sides and the surface cut into "chuckholes." This bad work was done before Mr. Weller's administration, but it is hoped he will repair the street.

Work of Sneak Thieves.

While Mrs. F. C. Hopkins of No. 194 Twenty-first street was away from home Monday afternoon a sneaking crew entered her house and stole $15. He was seen by a boy leaving the house, but was not apprehended. Mrs. Clyman of No. 228 Utah street, was also absent from home the same afternoon, visiting a neighbor across the way. A thief walked through her open back door and stole from a dresser a purse containing $12. T. W. Gilbert, a guest at the Rosslyn Hotel, reported that his room was entered Monday night and a watch taken.

REVIEWS.

Few people expected the "rage" for white to be so overwhelming that there would be a scarcity of the extremely rich materials suitable for street suits and evening costumes. That is the condition in New York today. The Unique Cloth and Suit Co. of South Broadway, is getting the cream of what is produced, for their buyer is on the watch among New York's dress shops. Yesterday's express brought six magnificently-trimmed white suits and costumes, which are worth your seeing.

The King expressed the hope that the perturbation and excitement which seized on the people in consequence of the distressing events of last winter, will now give place to quietude, and the old freedom of speech.

In conclusion I beg the people not to believe those who aver that "behind all the miserable business lies a tissue of falsehood and deception, but to believe the word of your King that this painful affair arose solely from the ungovernable passion of a woman who had long before secretly fallen."

INFAMY HIS WEAPON.

King of Saxony Issues Open Letter for Purpose of Destroying Sympathy for Crown Princess Louise.

BY THE KING.

DRESDEN, March 11.—(By Atlantic Cable.) The King of Saxony has written an open letter to his people, thanking them for the proof of their sympathy with him in the "recent sad misfortune," which had befallen himself and family.

The King expressed the hope that the perturbation and excitement which seized on the people in consequence of the distressing events of last winter, will now give place to quietude, and the old freedom of speech.

Maj. A. C. Hawkins of Bradford, Pa., is in the city. He is one of the largest individual producers of oil in Pennsylvania, and is a large property holder in the West Virginia fields.

C. P. Collins, another resident of Bradford, who has made a fortune in the eastern oil fields, is staying at the Angelus, accompanied by his son and daughter.

C. P. Collins of Bradford, J. R. Lennox of Pittsburgh, and Harry Heasler of the same place, all prominent in eastern oil circles, are here. They have inspected the local producing territory and expect to visit the Kern River district.
